Life is not life at all without delight.

Oh how sweet this life is to us, this life we live and see.

To Live — to climb the highest mountain
To Live — to dream
the impossible dream
To Live — to find the perfect wave.

Life involves being a member of a class and putting every effort forward to make it the best class yet. It's being in a classroom listening, comprehending, remembering, and utilizing. Life is also participating in the numerous clubs and organizations within our school.

What happens after graduation we can only surmise. Thus far our primary concern is living for today and planning for tomorrow.

The life we live, our attitudes, morals, and values, have evolved from this significant process called education.

Sharp clicking of shoes or the mild scuff down the hall ... the watchful eye ... the quiet scolding glance ... the wise guidance ... and the peaceful omniscience that comes with understanding and age. To know they are here to open vast doors to your future. These are the things that make life worth living.

Student Council Gives Hope to Lives of Orphans

Life in a war torn country is anything but ideal. Vietnam is no exception. Orphans are also a product of war. Again, Vietnam is no exception. This year, under the direction of the Student Council, the student body of Pittsford was able to give hope and light to the life of some of these orphans.

Larry Laske, while serving in Vietnam became acquainted with the directors and children of an orphanage. Concerned with their plight, Larry wrote and asked for help for the children.

The Student Council held an assembly where the letter was read and pictures of the children were shown. A program was set up and articles began pouring in from the students. After collection, the articles were packed and sent to Larry. Altogether, several boxes were sent and $60 was spent on postage.

In this small way, Pittsford students were able to give children in a country of unrest a glimpse of a better life.

Joel Ensminger and Mike Hoover pack boxes for Vietnam.

They Live Behind the Scenes

To live we must eat. This is why we are grateful to the cooks. They are the ones who work behind the scenes to feed us hungry students.

Most of Pittsford's students rely on the buses for transportation to and from school. The drivers work to deliver their riders alive to the school and home again each day.

Between Work and Play

Mrs. Perrin enjoys
Homecoming

Life for a teacher is two-fold. During school and for some time after hours they are found checking papers, preparing lessons, keeping records, and working with students.

In spite of all this work, the faculty also finds time to "play". They spend time with their families, do odd jobs around the home and almost all the things everyone else does. In addition, there are always those school functions to attend. There they relax and enjoy themselves while watching the students.

Ah, yes, a teacher's life is varied.

You look different Jerry!

Are you interested in stars?

But you have to!

YOU'RE TELLING ME

The living room of the Andrews home is not a tidy place. Since it is a motherless home, the neatness that would otherwise be there, is woefully lacking. Of course Isabella's efficiency??? is not sufficient to make up for this loss. Professor Andrews is too preoccupied with studying the stars to take notice of what is happening to his family and home. His son Bill wants to be a big league baseball player like Dick Mallon, his daughter Jerry's ex-boyfriend. It so happens that Dick Mallon and his fiancée Joan Mayberry, a sinking movie star, are in town for a big celebration. Jerry's younger sister, Donna, and Donna's best friend Beth still think there's a spark of love between Jerry and Dick and mean to kindle it into a big fire. It all added up to a laugh filled evening.

Having fun at the "Wildcat's" crazy-hat dance.

Did you see that flash? Hurry up, we've got a deadline to meet. How do you do this? These frequently heard phrases are popular in the Chemistry Room when the Annual Staff meets. It is to the tune of these questions that the Wildcat is developed. From the first page to the last, these questions are uttered and answered and slowly but surely the Annual takes shape.

The FHA is an organization which deals with the basis of life itself - the home and family. From setting the table, to sewing clothes, to cooking meals, the love of a job well done is continually being impressed on them by their instructor. Another facet of this group is their willingness to always serve other clubs and organizations in any way possible. Thanks to the FHA, many things have been achieved which without their help would have failed.

Paradoxers Live Late at Night

The importance of the Paradox Staff is recognized throughout the school. Their concern for school activities is presented in their publication - The Paradox. The members confront various situations with one idea in mind - to make our school paper one of quality, and thus it has been since it was instigated by interested journalists.

Under the Big Top

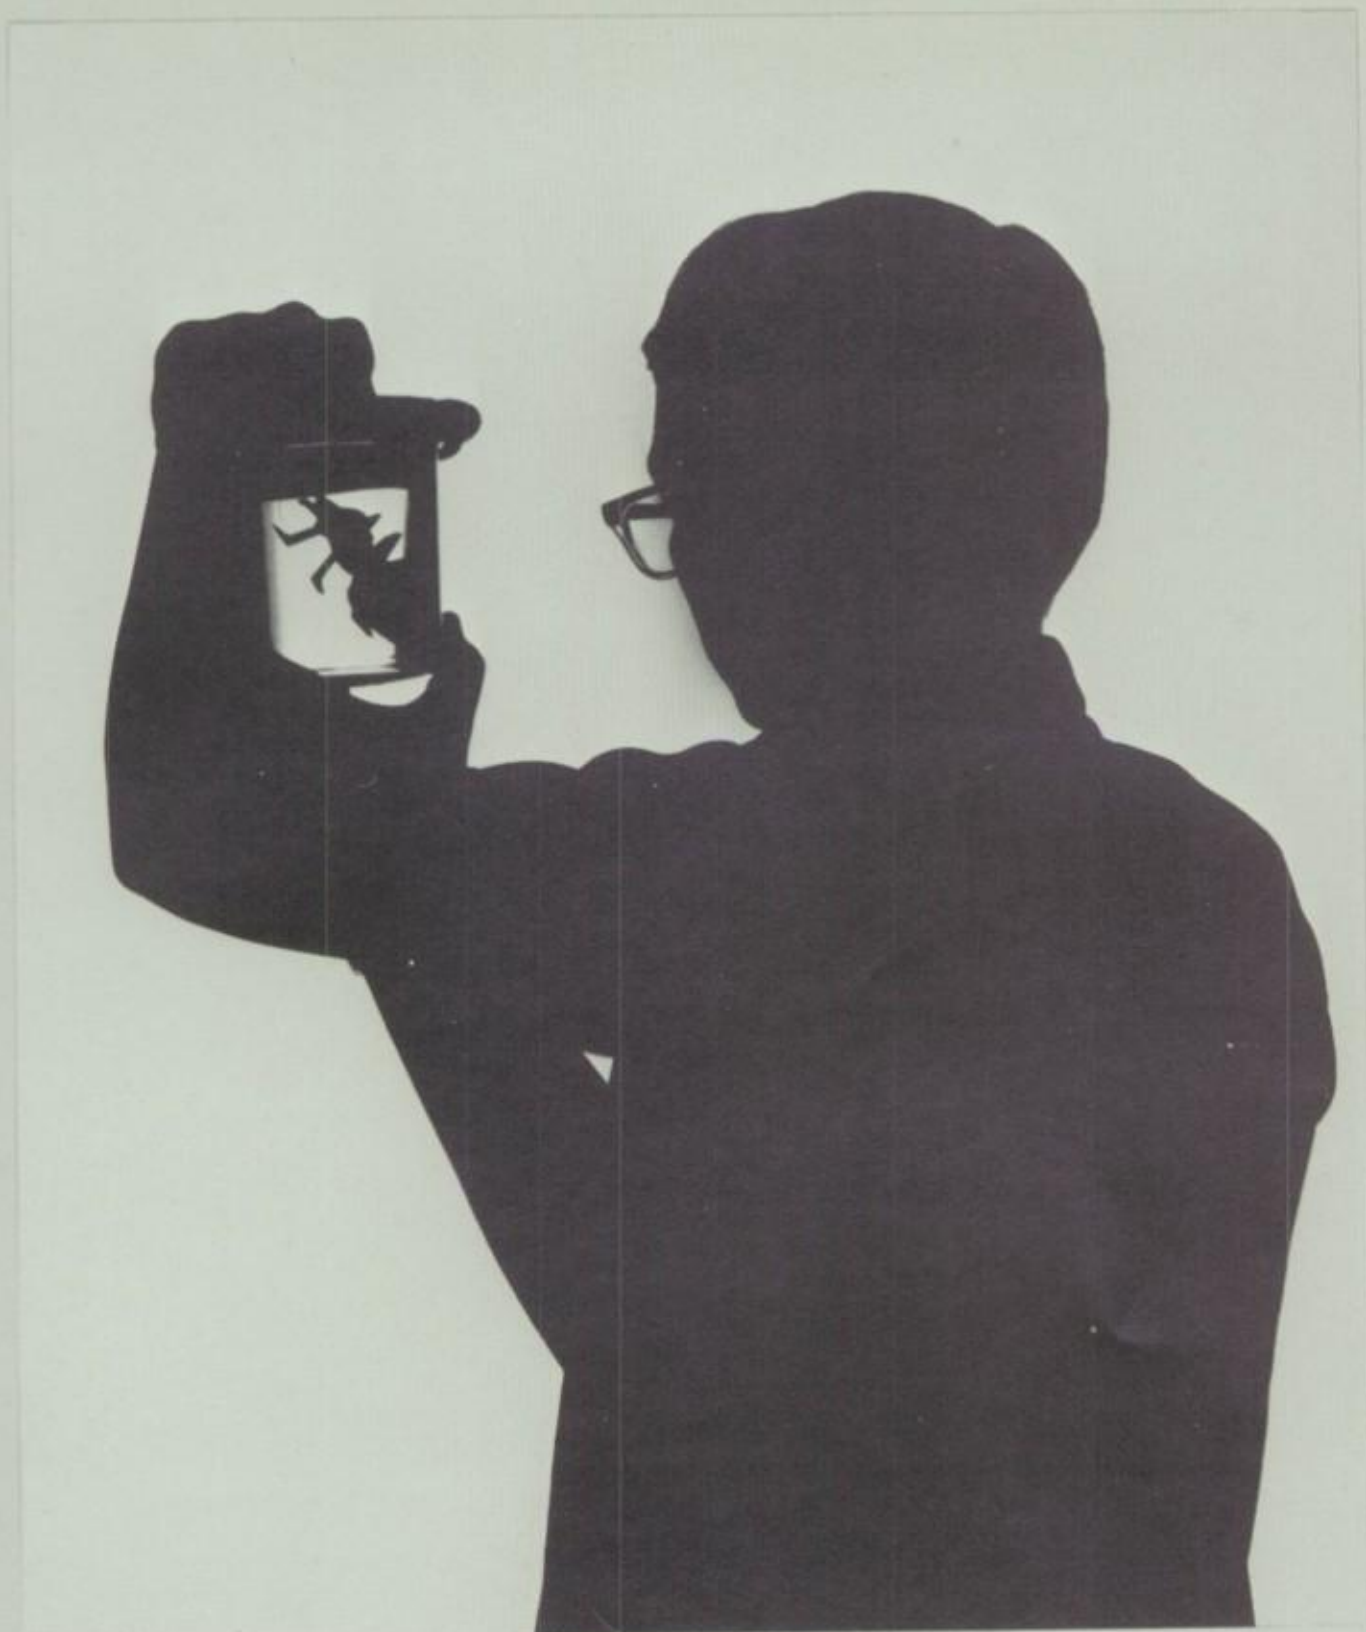

The Junior-Senior Banquet on May 14th was a huge success with 200 Seniors, parents, faculty, and Juniors attending. "Under the Big Top" the Ringmaster, Rush Scholfield, kept things humming. Sue Easler welcomed the guests into the ring and Mike Hoover responded with a thanks. All were enthralled by Rochelle Werten-ger's Ballet and Jazz numbers.

Frosh Don Schmidt was a great "Understudy" and "Just Clowns" was cleverly carried out by Soph. Dick Carncross. Roger Joughin spoke about "On the Tightrope" while Mr. Coulter compared our school to a "Four Ring Circus". Senior farewells were "Pulling Up Stakes" by Diana Irving. The main speaker, Mr. Wilfred Rock of Jonesville spoke on "The Show Goes On" with advice to strive to have traits of Congeniality, Integrity, Responsibility, Conversational skill, Understanding, and Silence.

•The decorations were cleverly carried out with a crepe paper Big Top, Clown nutcups, and wild animals adorning the table. The meal preceding the program was served by the Sophomore Clowns.
